INSTRUCTIONAL OUTLINE

FLORAL DESIGN AND FLOWER SHOP OPERATIONS

The objective of this program is to train students in the art of floral design so that they could be expected to successfully perform requested basic floral designs for a prospective employer.

The program consists of four courses covering 120 hours of instruction. Although some of the time is spent in lecture, a significant amount of the course involve hands-on experience.

BASIC FLORAL DESIGN PRACTICES FLOWERS 101

Instructor: Joe Emerick

Course Hours: Lecture 30.5 Lab 20.5

During the first week of training, students learn the basic design forms used throughout the floral industry. Concepts studied during this stage provide building blocks for subjects studied during the remainder of the class.

The following subjects are presented in this course: Bows (all sizes), Corsages, Boutonnieres, Bud Vases, Carnation/Rose arrangements and Colonials. These presentations are constructed by the students and graded by the instructor. Since these are basic elements in the floral industry, they will be revisited during some of the funeral and wedding weeks.

Much time is spent practicing to refine these basic skills. Our goal is for the student to be able to reproduce these basic floral designs correctly and without hesitation at the end of the course.

The proper care in receiving, processing and storing fresh flowers is mandatory for the profitability of a flower shop. This course gives the subject detailed attention.

INSTRUCTIONAL OUTLINE

FLOWERS AND SYMPATHY FLOWERS FLOWERS 102

Instructor: Joe Emerick
Course Hours: Lecture 9.0 Lab 16.0

This course teaches all of the floral elements dealing with the passing of a loved one from the initial consultation to the delivery of the flowers. Students design various arrangements suitable for the funerals and the viewing such as Table Arrangement, Traditional Sympathy Arrangement, Casket Spray, Easel Spray and Casket Pillow.

Through lecture and demonstration, students study the proper care and handling of different types of Planters and Houseplants along with the construction of novelty planters and blooming gardens. In addition to this, students learn plant decoration including foils, bows, fresh flowers and dried materials.

WEDDING FLOWERS FLOWERS 103

Instructor: Joe Emerick
Course Hours: Lecture 8.5 Lab 16.0

Detailed instruction is given on proper procedures and wedding etiquette. Students learn how to conduct a Wedding Consultation, offering suggestions on flowers which best fits the desires and budget of the wedding participants.

Construction of bridal and attendant bouquets includes the Colonial, Cascade and Stylized forms in fresh flowers. Specialty items such as Flower Girl Baskets, Altar pieces and Reception Flowers are demonstrated.

In addition, this course teaches students construction of the Parallel Arrangement, the Formal Triangle, and a High Style Arrangement

INSTRUCTIONAL OUTLINE

FLOWER SHOP OPERATIONFLOWERS 104

Instructor: Keith Wiederhold

Course Hours:Lecture 14.0 Lab 6.0

Throughout the entire program, we have interspersed a series of presentations to give the student an understanding of the business aspects of a retail flower shop. These subjects in their entirety constitute Flowers 104.

The ability to take an order accurately and completely is stressed. A thorough presentation of a floral order form will be taught. Students practice the various types of orders which they will be confronted with in a typical flower shop. These range from walk-ins, local delivery, wire-out and wire-in orders.

The student is given a full understanding of the vast networks of the Wire Services. While this section of the course focuses on FTD, the student will learn methods for choosing florist in other cities and states and procedures for sending international floral orders.

During this part of the course, a student will also learn the proper method for pricing arrangements and other floral products. Various floral mark-ups and labor charges will also be taught.

Flower identification is important for every staff member of a florist. This part of the course will require that a student learn the main varieties of flowers and greens carried in florist across the country.

A field trip to one of the floral suppliers is offered as part of the course providing all course work has been met up to the day the trip is scheduled. The trip is tentatively scheduled the next to the last day of class and all students are required to attend.
